

The Refior News Bulletin

March, 1987

After a relatively mild winter it seems that spring is coming here in Northern Indiana. The snow is all gone and the ice has melted off of most of the lakes. My law office overlooks Center Lake and it has not yet melted through, but probably will be free of ice within the next few days.

The Refiors are doing great! Nikki is busy with play practice. She is a part of the cast of "Bye Bye Birdie." We are getting Nikki's baritone serviced in preparation for her to rejoin the marching band this summer. Laura has started gymnastic classes and really enjoys it. She was a starter on her elementary basketball team. She was quite a scrappy and hustling guard. She tied as leading scorer on her team.

Presently Pam and I are very busy preparing for our fifth annual childrens musical at church. Pam will be the dog "Blooper" and I will again be "Psalty" the Singing Song Book in "Kids Praise Five." We have about sixty-five who have volunteered to participate in the musical. Other church news includes the upcoming missions conference and continued consideration about a new building project.

We have now started the Indiana High School Boys Basketball tournaments. In Indiana all of the high schools are in one class and there truly is "Hoosier Hysteria." Warsaw won its first game of the sectional. We really love the enthusiasm here in Indiana for high school basketball. Last weekend the family traveled to Indianapolis for a family get-away weekend. We attended the girls state basketball finals. This the second year in a row for attending the final four for girls high school basketball and we had a marvelous time.

Pam is really "itching" to get out in the yard. We will be putting out a garden this year. Pam also wants to do further landscaping in the yard. Her husband has agreed to spend some time working with her getting his fingernails dirty.

We recently had a delightful visit by Dave, Donna, Christopher, Joshua and Abigail Brown. They are career missionaries with the Evangelical Alliance Mission (TEAM).

The big news at the law office is that I have hired another lawyer. Actually he is finishing law school this spring and then he must sit for the Indiana Bar Exam. I am delightful that the Lord has provided a man to hire who is totally dedicated to serving our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. We are presently remodeling totally the office which will be Brian's as soon as he comes on board this summer.

The Lord continues to allow us to be involved in various ministries and life is exciting!

Sincerely,
